Notes: 1. When a commodity corresponds to plural commodity groups, they are counted as different commodities. Also, when a domestic product and an imported product share the same commodity name within a single commodity group, they are counted as two commodities.
 2. The "1995 base" in the "Commodity" column denotes the number of commodities which have been transferred from the 2000 base Corporate Goods Price Index. (Since the releasing of the December 2002 index, commodities transferred from the 1995 base Wholesale Price Index have been switched over to the 2000 base Corporate Goods Price Index.)
